BEWARE OF COLDS SAYS HEALTH OFFICER

People Do Not Catch Cold But Become Infected With Germs

COLD DANGER SIGNAL

There is no Such Thing as a Harmless "Cold" or "Sore Throat"—May Transmit Infection to Others.

A man stopped me on the street the other day and said, "Doctor, will you kindly tell me what is a cold and how is it caused, I mean the ordinary common cold in the head, combined sometimes with sore throat, that seems to afflict most of us during the fall and winter seasons?

I was very glad to answer his question and as it is one of general public interest at this time, I will give my explanation of this very annoying and often serious affliction.

The trouble which is generally spoken of as a common cold in the head, is a condition caused by germs and is highly contagious. When these germs extend the infection downward into the throat, we have the condition popularly called "sore throat."

A "common cold" is a name that people apply to almost every mild infection of the nose, throat or lungs. If the trouble is located chiefly in the nose, it is called a "cold in the head" and if in the throat and lungs, "a cold on the chest." But it must be remembered that a "cold" is only the popular name to describe a condition, and has no scientific meaning. It is just about as descriptive as to say a person has "liver trouble" or "stomach trouble."

A so-called 'cold' is no trifling matter, as it indicates an infection by one or more forms of the various disease producing germs or bacteria as we call them, that are able to cause more or less serious diseases of the respiratory tract, such as rhinitis, tonsilitis, pharyngitis, diphtheria, pneumonia, etc. The "pneumococcus," the germ causing pneumonia, is often present and is frequently the actual cause of a so-called "cold," which later may develop a true case of pneumonia. If the germs remained in the nose and upper part of the throat, you might have simply a long continued and very obstinate "cold." But if conditions are favorable, the pneumococci work on down into the lungs and pneumonia follows.

You will often hear a person in describing some friend's sickness, say, "He caught a bad cold and it later turned into pneumonia." People do not "catch cold" but become infected with germs that cause a known disease. Such germs are generally passed from one person to another by the act of coughing, sneezing, or loud talking. This is what we call spray or droplet infection and such diseases as influenza, grippe, measles, whooping cough, pneumonia and tuberculosis are usually transmitted in this manner.

Did you ever notice that if one member of a family "catches a cold," the others generally follow in line? The reason is very simple, as most people look upon a "cold" as a very harmless affair, hence take no precautions to prevent infection. So it is not hard to understand why the "cold" soon passes from one member of the family to the other.

A "cold" must not be considered a disease in itself, but merely a symptom of a disease that may or may not fully develop later. But all will depend upon prompt treatment, or upon the kind of germs causing the trouble, or the degree of natural immunity of the person, or the general good health and powers of resistance.

Any form of "sore throat," particularly in children and young people, should always be regarded seriously. Diphtheria begins with a mild sore throat and is often looked upon as a simple "cold," if this disease is not promptly recognized and protective measures taken at once, many other people may become infected with these dangerous germs, especially small children.

Don't take foolish risks in such a case, but have your doctor see the throat without delay. If the throat looks at all suspicious, he will make a swab and send it to our laboratory for microscopical examination. The germ of diphtheria is a living organism that can be seen, measured and easily recognized beyond any shadow of doubt by a trained expert.

Many cases of sore throat in children seem so mild that they are treated with various home remedies or patent medicines and no doctor is called. Many of such cases are really a mild form of true diphtheria, and while the patient may suffer little or no harm yet is just as capable of infecting others seriously, as if he or she had the disease in its most virulent form. That is the way many epidemics of diphtheria are started.

The point I wish to make right here is that there is no such thing as a harmless "cold" or "sore throat" It may turn out harmless to you, but you are liable to transmit a dangerous infection to others.

I have often been asked the question, "Do drafts and wet feet cause colds and sore throats?" In my opinion they do, but not directly. This opinion is based upon many years of careful observation.

I cannot enter into a long technical explanation here, so will simply say that a draft of cold air chills a part of the body, which results in a congestion of the delicate mucous membrane lining the nose. The first effect of this is a sneeze. Now the nose of a healthy adult will secrete about one pint of watery serum in 24 hours. You don't notice this, however, as it is evaporated by the inspired air and serves to moisten it before it enters the lungs. So when the lining of the nose becomes congested by the chilling effects of a draft, the secretion of this serum is greatly interfered with and causes a still greater congestion and swelling of the membrane. The nostrils are now filled to such an extent that breathing is difficult or rendered impossible through the nose. We now have a condition that is abnormal and which is highly favorable to the rapid multiplication of any germs that may be present.

Kindly note that I use the words "rapid multiplication," and there is a good reason for so doing. Let us suppose for instance that there is just one single diphtheria germ in such a nose to start with. In half an hour this germ will grow larger and split in half, then we have two. In another half hour these two split into four and these four later into eight and so on, until at the end of only 24 hours we will have the unthinkable number of two hundred and eighty trillion germs, all the product of that one lone bug."

This will give you an idea why disease germs—minute organisms invisible to the naked eye—can do so much harm and are so easily spread from one person to another.

Remember then that a "cold" is a danger signal. The color of this signal (the throat) may mean only that you must slow down, then again it may mean that you must stop and stop short at that!

STREET CAR RUNS INTO AUTO TRUCK

One Man Killed and Eighteen Men, Women and Children Injured

ARREST CONDUCTOR

Vestibule of Car Demolished and Front of Truck Badly Damaged by the Collision.

One man was killed and eighteen men and women were more or less seriously injured at 8.30 this morning when a Silver Spring street car collided with a heavy army motor truck leaving Walter Reed Hospital. The car, coming down a steep incline, was traveling at an excessive rate of speed, according to witnesses.

The motor truck, emerging from a gateway leading into the hospital grounds, was struck by the car and overturned, killing the driver, Edward Souther, a private in the Quartermaster Corps at Walter Reed Hospital. The street car traveled about fifty yards after the crash. The front part of the car was entirely demolished.

The motorman, Earl C. Nash, was badly injured.

The car was loaded with passengers, all of whom were more or less badly bruised. Five were injured seriously and may die. All the injured were taken to Walter Reed Hospital.

The street car was en route from Forest Glen, going south on Georgia avenue, when the motor truck appeared from one of the driveways leading from Walter Reed Hospital, near Dogwood street. Witnesses state that the front wheel of the truck was hardly on the track when the car crashed into it.

The force of the collision turned the motor truck completely around, throwing it against a trolley pole, which caused the pole to snap under the weight.

The vestibule of the car was demolished, and the front of the truck was badly damaged.

Benjamin Hawkins, conductor of the street car, was arrested and taken to the Tenth precinct station house, where he will be held pending an investigation of the wreck.

SPECIAL VESPER SERVICE

Knights of Columbus Observe Discovery Day

Under the auspices of Fitzgerald Council No. 459, Knights of Columbus, a solemn vesper service was held last night in St. Mary's Catholic Church in observance of Discovery Day.

The vespers was sung by the choir of St. Patrick's Church, Washington, under the direction of Prfessor C. A. Benson and a large congregation attended.

Members of the order occupied seats in the center aisle of the church.

In addition to singing the vesper service the choir also sang "Tanyum Ergo" and "O Salutoris." The service was conducted by the congregation singing "Holy God We Praise Thy Name."

Rev. M. J. Riordan, of the Immaculate Conception Church, Washington, preached an eloquent sermon on Knights of Columbus.

The Knights of Columbus will end their celebration tonight with an oyster roast which will be given at the Lyceum Hall.

JEWISH RELIEF CAMPAIGN

All is in readiness for the Jewish Relief campaign which will begin tomorrow. The drive will end October 24.

Ministers in every church urged their parishoners to contribute liberally to this cause. As heretofore stated Alexandria's allotment is $5,000 and the allotment for the state is $300,000.

F. C. PULLIN LOSES AUTO

Hudson Super-Six Valued at $2,500 Stolen From Alexandrian in Washington.

A Hudson Super-Six automobile belonging to Frank C. Pullin, of this city, was stolen Friday morning while Mr. Pullin was in a store at 29 B street, northwest, Washington. Mr. Pullin values the machine at $2,500.

Just as Mr. Pullin entered the store a man walked up and entered the machine and made up off. A report of the theft was immediately made to the Washington police who informed Mr. Pullin that unless the machine was taken out of the city they have hope of recovering it without delay.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad but loving remembrance of our dear daughter, Helen L. Kendrick, who departed this life one year ago today October 13, 1918.

You are not forgotten Helen dear,
Nor will you ever be,
For as long as life and memory last
We will always remember thee.
(May her soul rest in peace).
By her loving father and mother.
244-1p.

In loving memory of my beloved wife, Annie I. Hayden, who departed this life one year ago yesterday, October 12, 1918.

The loss was bitter, the pain severe
To part with one I loved so dear,
The trial was hard, I will not complain,
But trust in God to meet again.
By her devoted husband and children
224-1p.

Sacred to the memory of our dear daughter and sister, Annie I. Hayden who departed this life one year ago yesterday, October 12, 1918.

In the graveyard safely sleeping,
Where the flowers quietly wave,
Lies the one we love so dearly
In her lonely silent grave.
Thou are gone, but not forgotten,
In this great world of strife,
Thou shall always be remembered,
As long as God gives us life.
More and more each day we miss you
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow,
That lies in our heart concealed.
Days of sadness still come over us
Tears of sadness silently flow,
Fond memory keeps my beloved one near us,
Though heaven claimed her one year ago.
By her beloved mother and sister.
244-1p.

In sad but loving remembrance of our dear daughter, Audrey V. Hall, who left us so suddenly one year ago yesterday, October 12, 1918.

That dear beautiful day in October
When God bid you come
It made us so sad and lonely
When we knew he had called you home.
When the hour struck, when the sun of your life was sitting in the golden west,
You murmured not dear Audrey
But went bravely on too rest.
Your dear face is always with us,
Your dear sweet smile, your black eyes too,
You cannot come to us dear Audrey
But some day we will come to you.
God needed another little flower
The blow was hard for us too bear
When the message came for you
To grace his upper garden there.
By her loving mother
244-1t. Mrs. Alice Hall.

In loving remembrance of my dear daughter, Bertha T. Johnson, who departed this life one year ago today, October 14, 1918.

Gone but not forgotten,
For we hold your memory still
How we regret too part with thee
But it is the Master's will.
It was his voice that called
From labor too reward
Sleep on dear one,
We will meet again where parting is no more.
I never can forget you dear daughter,
While in this world I stay,
For my heart has never been the same,
Since the day you passed away.
244-1p. Mother.

Y. M. C. A. PLANS SOON WILL BE READY

Will Raise Funds For Non Equipment Department

MOVEMENT ENDORSED

Course Planned to Include Physical, Social, Educational and Religious Activities.

The proposition of a City Y. M. C. A., for Alexandria, was presented to a number of business men and laymen individually. Then it was brought to the attention of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce and was referred to the Civic Bureau of that chamber for its consideration. The whole proposition was presented to the ministers of the city before it came to the attention of the Civic Bureau. The ministers of the city unanimously approved the plan and appointed Rev. Dr. E. V. Regester to present the ministers opinion to the Civic Bureau. The state committee of the Y. M. C. A., had their District secretary, Mr. Leo Rippy and State county work secretary Mr. E. G. Caster to present the matter to the Civic Bureau which was done September 22. After the presentation and address by the ministers and a number of business men who were very much in favor of it, the Civic Bureau unanimously accepted the plan and asked the directors to approve the plan and allow chairman of Civic Bureau to appoint fifteen of the leading business men to work out the details with the Y .M. C. A. representatives. The directors of the Chamber of Commerce unanimously approved the civic bureau's recommendation on October 8.

It is seldom that any one will find a place where the ministers of a city the Laymen of the churches and the Chamber of Commerce agree so unanimously upon any proposition, as they did in Alexandria on the Y. M. C. A., movement. It goes to show the spirit that exists is one of full consideration for the welfare of the individuals of the city, as well as the collective interest of the business of the city.

The next question that will arise is the question of a building. The proposed plan does not take into consideration the erection of a building. The Y. M. C. A. for the past 30 years has been working in cities without a building and the experience from such an undertaking is one that compels every one to see the advantage of at least beginning the work in such way. The Young Men's Christian Association, is not a building, it is a program. Its place in a city is not to build big buildings to house the interest around such a building but to co-operate with the agencies in that city, the home, the school, the church, in selecting, developing, and enlisting the leadership of the young men and boys of that city. The Association should be as it will be in Alexandria an organization of the Protestant churches working with all men for their betterment.

In selecting developing and enlisting leadership, of the people, the Association does it by a program and not by a building. The program is complete, the physical, the social, the Educational and religious. A complete program carried on under such an organization working with all the churches, or all churches working it, working with all citizens of the city can only mean one thing, and that is the advancement of God's Kingdom here among men.

To carry on such a program takes organization. As given above fifteen business men will be appointed and around these fifteen men a city board will be formed. This city board will direct the program, a trained Y. M. C. A. Secretary will under their direction promote a program for the city, consisting of the physical, social educational and religious activities. The City Secretary will select with the help of the ministers of the city and the City Y. M. C. A. Board, certain committees to carry on the work. Some of these committees will be as follows: Co-operation with the home, co-operation with the school, co-operation with the church, co-operation with the industries, co-operation with the municipality, and last and of the greatest of importance the committee on boys work. The boys work comprising al sides of the boy life, working with Boy Scout movement, and other programs for the boys of the city. With such an organization the greatest amount of social, physical, educational and religious activities can be carried on.

The City Y. M. C. A., Board will be announced in a few days and definite announcement as to raising the local budget will be made.

PARADE NEXT SUNDAY

Movies Will be Taken of Sunday School Parade by Y. M. C. A.

Sunday, under the direction of the City Y. M. C. A., District Secretary Rippy, acting as city secretary, the state committee of the association will make a moving picture of the big Sunday School parade In addition to this pictures will also be made of the places of special interest around Alexandria.

The reason for this is that the Y. M. C. A., will have this Sunday School reel developed and shown in Alexandria first, and then this reel will be released all over the state, so that people will see that people of Alexandria are interested in the Sunday School work and that by this picture other Sunday Schools will be uncouraged to make more effort to enlist people in such work, and that many hundreds of people all over the state will be influenced toward the Sunday Schools of their respective churches.

Mr. Chamberlain, of the State Staff of the Y. M. C. A., will lead the community singing Sunday after noon after the parade, in Christ Church yard. Sunday will be a big day for the whole state. The influence of this day's work will be felt all over the state, every one should do their utmost to make the day a success.

WILL ELECT POLICEMEN

The regular monthly meeting of the Beard of Police Commissioners will be held on Wednesday night next at which time the election of two members of the police force will take place to fill vacancies caused by the resignation of Sergeant Scott and Private Grover. All candidates are requested to be present.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of my dear sister, Helen L. Kendrick, who died October 13, 1918.

Often to my heart comes a bitter cry
Why oh, why did Helen die,
Then comes an answer so solemn and deep,
Helen is only asleep.
From this world of grief and sorrow
To the land of peace and rest,
God has taken you dear sister,
Where you will find eternal rest.
244-1p. By her sister Maggie.

In sad but loving remembrance of our loving wife and mother, Janie Carter, who departed this life one year ago today.

One year has past since that sad day
When the one we loved was called away,
God took her home it was His will,
But in our hearts she liveth still.
On you dear wife I could depend
And knew I had a sincere friend
And all the hours on earth you spent
Your heart to us was always bent.
Though our family circle is broken
And the parting fills us with pain
We hold as a glorious tken
The bright hope of meeting again.
You dont know the sorrow to lose a loved one,
Until God sends a messenger to your home
It is sad when he calls for or the other,
But he worst blow of all when he calls for mother.
By her husband, J. B. Carter,

HAPPENINGS ABOUT CITY TOLD IN BRIEF

The board of directors of the Chamber of Commmerce will hold a meeting tonight.

Miss Margaret E. Normoyle has returned from Round Hill, Va., where she spent the past two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Mundy are visiting Mrs. Mundy's aunt, Mrs Beverley Ambler, Sweetbriar, Va.

Rev. Dr. S. A. Wallis has returned from Fredericksburg, Va., where he held services at St. George'e Church

Dr. Edward A. Gorman, who has been attending surgical clinics in New York for the past thirty days, has returned home.

The October term of the circuit court for Prince William county, Judge S. G. Brent presiding, convened today at Manassas, Va.

Ensign and Mrs. John O'Beirne, of Fairmont, W. Va., formerly in charge of the Salvation Army here, are visiting their friends in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Crane, of Braddock, spent the week end with their cousins, Mrs. W. Y. Slater and Mrs. Robert Carter, Petersburg, Va.

A northbound electric train jumped the track at King and Columbus streets at 11 o'clock last night considerably delaying northbound traffic.

Sergt. Irving Tennyson, who for the past eighteen months has been overseas with the medical department, has been mustered out of service and returned home.

City Council will reconvene tomorrow night after the annual summer recess. A large volume of routine business that has accumulated will be up for consideration.

In the Corporation Court today, Judge L. C. Barley presiding, the case of the commonwealth against Charles L. Wilburn, indicted for grand larceny, is in progress.

Miss Vera Germond left last Sunday for New York, Montreal and Quebec, accompanied by Miss Lillian Claubaugh, of Washington. They will return about October 25th.

The case of a man suspected of being engaged in selling of ardent spirits is slated for a hearing at a special session of the police court which will be held at 7 o'clock tonight.

During the past week several hundred automobiles passed through Alexandria en route to North and South Carolina being brought under their own power from the plants of the manufacturers rather than take the change of delay by the railroads.

Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Travis announce the mariage of their daughter, Miss Eva to Mr. Howard A. Simms which took place Saturday evening in Washington, Rev. E. Hez Swem officiating. The couple will reside at the home of the bride's parents, Del Ray.

A large class of candidates will be initiated tonight by Alexandria Lodge of Elks. At this meeting the question of returning to its former home, which during the war was occupied by the War Camp Community Club, will be determined upon. Afterward there will be a social session.

A large class will initiate tonight by the Loyal Order of Moose at their hall over Alexandria National Bank. Over 75 applications have been received by Bert O'Brien, the District Deputy Supervisor in charge of the campaign here. He states that initiations will be given each Monday night and without doubt the desired 1,000 members will be received before the closing of the campaign. Interest is increasing in Moose circles and thus far the membership has been very satisfactory.

MR. WILSON'S CONDITION

Senator George H. Moses, republican, of New Hampshire, who has been one of the President's bitterest foes, says the "President has suffered some kind of a cerebral lesion, either during his speech at Pueblo or immediately thereafter, and one of the readily discernible results is a slight facial paralysis." He adds that the President "may live," but says "he will not be any material force or factor in anything."

Questions asked yesterday as to whether or not the President had suffered a cerebral lesion were unanswered at the White House, and the silence recalled many of the rumors and reports in circulation at the Capitol throughout the past week.

That portion of Senator Moses' letter which refers to a cerebral lesion and the slight facial paralysis has been a common rumor in Washington for the past week. The President, it may be said, has suffered from time to time with a violent twitching of his face. This twitching has been a danger signal to Dr. Grayson for the past six years.

The announcement in the last bulletin that the President will be kept in bed for the present in order to prevent any relapse has not been assuring to the millions who have anxious hope for his speedy recovery.

The statement of Senator Moses has cast a shadow upon optimistic suppositions that the President is far advanced in his convalescence. Such reports at this critical period in the country's history are depressing, and it is earnestly hoped they will prove groundless.

THE STRIKE ERA

The acting president of the United Mine Workers of America announces that he will call a strike of the miners of the central competitive field, which includes Western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois—225,000 in all—on November 1. This as a result of the refusal of the operators to accept the demands of the men formulated at their recent convention in Cleveland, which inluded a six hour day, a five day week, time and a half for over time and double time for Sundays and holidays.

The Baltimore Sun calls attention to the fact that "in the spring of last year the miners made an agreement with the employers which was to continue in force 'until peace was declared or until March 31, 1920.' The strike, if called, will be a violation of that agreement.

"Herein outside of the question of whether the men are or are not receiving adequate wages, are involved two fundamental issues. The first is that of the sanctity of agreements. The second concerns production.

"It is obvious that unless agreements made between employers and employes are faithfully observed by both parties there is no use making agreements. Without good faith collective bargaining or any other kind of bargaining becomes a farce."

HOLDUPS IN THE STREETS

Nine cases of highway robbery in seven days in the streets of Washington have been reported. This is a commentary upon conditions in the capital city of the nation in the twentieth century, and carries the mind back a century and a half to conditions in the city of London when it was dangerous to appear on the streets of the capital of the British nation after dark. Jack Sheppard, Jonathan Wild, Blueskin and many other thugs were the terrors of that day. The footpads of this age, in most cases, are negroes, and very few of them are brought to justice.

During the past few months daring cases of highway robbery have been reported in Alexandria. Several months ago a colored man, employe of the Southern Railway Company, was held up in broad day light at Duke and Columbus streets and robbed of over fifty dollars. One night last week a young man was relieved of two dollars—all the money he had with him—in the northwestern section of the city.

STRIKES AND RELIGION

Strong censure of the ministers who "play with the strike idea" and condemnation of the present epidemic of strikes were given yesterday morning in a sermon by the Rev. Dr. William S. Hammond, pastor of St. John's Methodist Episcopal Church South of Washington. He said that strikes seem to be arrayed against society and religion, as well as against law and government, and that ministers who acknowledged allegiance or sympathy with the strike principle were foolishly treading on dangerous ground.

Sixty years or more ago the late Rev. Henry Ward Beecher was at his zenith. His Plymouth Tabernacle in Brooklyn was filled at each service with an audience eager to hear the minister who invariably touched on the political and other issues of his day. Many ministers of the gospel condemned his course in tintroducing secular subjects in his pulpit. Beecher's example is followed today by many wearers of the cloth.

UNIVERSAL TRAINING

When the German army threw up the sponge nearly a year ago the world uttered expressions of thanksgiving, earnestly hoping that the Temple of Janus would never be opened again. In the course of time the course of time the survivors of this awful conflit were mustered out of service and allowed to depart for their homes and into the arms of loved ones whose prayers had gone up daily for their preservation. The ex-soldiers were tired of war, weary of drilling, parades and everything else which enters into the martial calling. But almost before they could get out of their uniforms and into their civic garbs a movement looking toward universal training was in progress.

Such a course may be regarded as necessary by those who are at the head of the nation, but many are not looking at this matter through their spectales.

Characterizing universal military training as "unnecessary, unwarranted and economically wasteful," Major General William G. Price, commander of the reorganized Pennsylvania National Guard, created considerable stir in Philadelphia this week in an address delivered at a luncheon of the Engineers' Club. In making known his stand against universal training, General Price explained that he based his deductions on an experience gained during 33 years as a soldier and business man.

He said the $900,000,000 which General March estimates would be necessary to support the army under the organization now pending before Congress, could be used to better advantage. The navies of the United States and England, cooperating said the General, could compel the ence of the world without a large standing army.

WHERE SOME STEEL STRIKERS RESIDE

The road to Soho hill in the Pittsburgh steel district where many of the striking workers have their homes.

"DON'T FORGET THE TREES"

"Don't forget the trees on Fire Prevention day, October 9," says Charles Lathrop Pack, president of the American Forestry association. "Think of that day of forest fires which in 1918 cost the nation $23,560,000 and which have done much damage this year." The photograph shows Mr. Pack in the grounds of his home at Lakewood, N. J.

Nine Lives.

When they were organizing the American Legion there were some heated debates on various organization points. One delegation had a membership idea that it wanted put through. The majority turned it down on the ground that it was un-American. That was too much for one returned veteran. He came up on both feet with a roar.

"Do I understand," he demanded, waving both arms, "that those of us that went across have died in vain?"

He was assured that such was not the case.

"Well, that's all I want to know," he said. "If I thought I had given up my life without result I would rise up in my grave!"

Exposure.

The world's war veterans were having their reunion down on the corner—the reunion that they have every evening after supper.

One lad was telling his experiences and concluded by saying: "I don't see how we ever lived through it. It's a wonder we didn't die from exposure."

"We had a pretty tough war of it over here in the camps," remarked a lad who had never been overseas. Then another veteran of the battle of Camp Taylor smiled and added:

"Yes, just look at Lieutenant (Hard Boiled) Smith. He is almost dead from the exposure he is getting over here."

DURING WAR 11,880 WOMEN IN NAVY

Hundreds Were Employed in File Room of Bureau of Navigation

LOCAL WOMEN SERVE

Miss Blanche Stansbury Chief of Classifying Group and Miss Elsie P. Schwarzmann Finger Print Expert.

Though there are no women at present enlisted or enrolled in the Navy or Naval Reserve, there are numbers who are assisting the Navy Department in a civil capacity at various shore stations.

During the War the Navy enrolled 11,880 women for duty in the Navy Department, Navy Yards and Naval Stations throughout the United States There were also 401 women enlisted in the Navy for duty at the Navy Yards and Naval Stations. They were employed as Accountants, Finger Print Classifiers, Draftsmen, Clerks, Stenographers, and Typists, and were a great factor in handling the voluminous amount of work laid out for the Navy Department to accomplish.

In the file room of the Bureau of Navigation where the record of every man who has enlisted in the Navy is kept hundreds of young women were employed to keep these records straight so that the department would have an accurate record as to where each and every man was serving during the war. This work was handled in an efficient manner.

In the mail room of the Bureau of Navigation there is a branch Post Office where letters for officers and enlisted men of the Navy are sent to the Department to be directed to their proper address. This work was carried on almost entirely by women, and the mail was rushed through as rapidly as if handled in a regular government Post Office.

When the war started, the Indentification Division of the Bureau of Navigation had to greatly increase its force in order to classify and file the identification record of every man who enlisted in the navy in order that in case of accident his identity could be immediately established The first examination for Finger Print Classifiers was held in New York City. There were about 40 men and 2 women who took this examination. To the great surprise of every one a young girl, Miss Marie S Dahm, 22 years of age passed number one in this examination and was the first woman to be enrolled in the Naval Reserve Force as a Finger Print Expert, with the rate of Chief Yeoman. Miss Dahm reported for duty on April 5, 117 and remained in this office until December 1, 1918. when she resigned and returned to her home. She assisted in a very efficient manner in handling the large number of identification records required to be handled daily in order to keep the work of this Division up-to-date.

Right after the war was declared it was found necessary to increase the force so that there would be a sufficient number of clerks to carry on the work. The force was eventually increased to 115, about 95 per cent of which were women. As there were no schools where the art of classifying finger prints could be learned it was necessary to start a school in the Bureau to teach the young women enrolled for duty in the identification Division as to how to search and file identification records. Miss Catherine Mary Spruce was assigned to duty for this purpose and throughout the war she instructed women without experience how to search and file identification records. This painstaking position was very ably filled by Miss Spruce, and in a very short time she had a force of young girls under her who could search and file a large number of identification records daily, accurately, Miss Spruce is a young girl, being only 20 years of age, and with her assistance the efficiency for which the Identification Division is justly noted was maintained.

Miss Blanche G. Stansbury, one of the first women to be enrolled for duty in the Identification Division has now become chief of the classifying group. This young lady supervises the classification of hundreds of records daily, and she is considered one of the best in the Division.

Another young girl who came in in April, 1917, Miss Elsie P. Schwarzmann, has qualified as finger print expert and is now in charge of one of the filing groups, having 12 other young women in her charge.

Strange to say, all of these women who have proved to be successful have been either High School Graduates or had at least one or two years in college, and they have proved conclusively that they can cope with the painstaking work formerly accomplished by men.

At the different Aviation Plants throughout the country the Navy employed women to make wings for aeroplanes. They covered wings for aeroplanes with silk, linen, and Sea Island Cotton and were classified as Fabric Workers. These accomplished this painstaking work in such an able manner as to receive the commendation of all who had to pass upon their work.

Miss Emma Blunt, information clerk in the Bureau of Navigation, had the arduous task throughout the war of attending visitors to the Bureau of Navigation with the information they desired. This young lady had to be familiar with the work performed by the various divisions of the Bureau of Navigation, and directed all callers to the proper office in order that they could obtain the information they desired. This young lady through her courteous manner won the admiration of all with whom she came in contact.

The following paragraph is taken from the New York Evening Telegraph of April 7, 1918, giving Rear Admiral Samuel McGowan's opinion of Miss Sue Dorsey, the only woman recommended for an Officer's commission in the Navy.

"The most valuable woman in the government employ", is the way Rear Admiral Samuel McGowan, Paymaster General of the United States Navy, characterizes Miss Sue Dorsey, the only woman recommended for an officer's commission in the Navy. Admiral McGowan, urging her appointment as assistant paymaster in the reserve, said: "If any one deserves a commission, she does," for he knew best of the work of the dark haired, attractive young woman who has the formidable title of "Assistant for Personnel to Officers in Charge of Fleet Division, Bureau of Supplies and Accounts," Miss Dorsey's job is to keep track of 1,500 pay officers. She knows where each of these officers is and how well each does his work. Most of them do not know that a pretty young woman details them to duty, but when a ship calls for a pay officer it is Miss Dorsey who assigns one of those on her list."

Miss Dorsey entered the Navy Department as a civil service stenographer. She was temporarily assigned to Rear Admiral Thomas J. Cowie, Rear Admiral McGowan's predecessor.

WOMAN SHOT IN NORFOLK

Gatekeeper at Railroad Crossing is Held by Police on Charge of Murder

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 13.—Mrs. J. C. Perkinson, of Charlotte, N. C., was shot and killed in an automobile at a railroad crossing here early Saturday morning. Branch A. Ford, gatekeeper for the railway, has admitted to the police that he fired three shots at a passing automobile after the occupants had taken him to task for blocking the street.

A public chauffeur and two other men were passengers in the car with Mrs. Perkinson when she was killed. According to the passengers, the shooting followed an argument with the gatekeeper, who is being held on the charge of murder.

HAS RESTFUL DAY

President Must Remain in Bed Until Danger of Relapse is Over

Washington, Oct. 13.—While President Wilson is believed by his physicians to be on the road to recovery, the process will be slow and tedious. The President, it was reiterated yesterday at the White House, must resign himself to strict observance of the physicians' orders to put aside all thought of his office while convalescing and remain in bed until danger of a relapse has passed.

Rear Admiral Grayson, the President's personal physician, and the physicians he called in more than a week ago continue to confine themselves to terse bulletins twice a day, so far as the public is concerned. That they are satisfied with the progress their patient is making is apparent from the spirit of optimism that pervades the White House and the resentment with which various rumors as to the President's "real" codition are met by White House officials.

PUBLIC SALE

Of Real Estate and Household Furniture by Samuel H. Lunt Auctioneer.

By virtue of a decree of the Circuit Court of the City of Alexandria, Virginia, entered on October 3rd, 1919 in the Chancery cause therein depending on Mary E. Brown et al. PRAYERS FOR DEAD

Deputies in P. E. Convention, After Hot Debate, Decide for Inclusion in Prayer Book

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 13.—Shall the priests of the Protestant Episcopal Church pray for the dead? And shall such a prayer be included in the prayerbook of the church? These two questions were heatedly debated at length in the closing minutes of Friday's session of the House of Deputies. In the end those who supporetd the inclusion of the new prayer for Memorial Day, in the changes in the prayerbook, were victorious.

At no time in the convention has feeling apparently run so high. One clerical deputy, the Rev. James M. Owens, of Shreveport, La., declared that in this matter the Protestant Episcopal Church was "at the parting of the ways," and hinted that much of the fate of the church hung trembling in the balance.

Rev. Dr. George C. Foley, a professor in the Philadelphia Divinity School, raised the issue. Doctor Foley explained that it was a purely theological question and added that, to his mind, at least, it was absurd "to pray for the dead when there were no dead."

G. O. P. HITS AT LABOR

Publicity Association Calls "Closed Shop" An Un-American Institution.

Washington, Oct. 13.—The Republican Publicity Association organized to re-enforce the efforts of the Republican National Committee, and headed by an important group of Republican ex-Senators and ex-Congressmen, launched its second thunderbolt saying that the "closed shop" is un-American.

The labor group in the Industrial Conference has made the "closed shop" one of its fundamental demands. Yesterday's statement, which is the second within two weeks directed against organized labor yesterday, st labor, is as follows.

"The crux of the demands of the labor group as presented to the labor capital conference may be summarized as follows: The right of wage-earners to bargain collectively, through unions, represented by agents of their own choosing. It is a one-sided proposition. It speaks of the right of wage earners to bargain in a certain way by assuming that there shall be no right but the power to bargain collectively, and the form of bargaining collectively to dictate terms of employers. Their object is not bargaining, but dictation.

"The only truly American policy—the only truly democratic policy—is for wage earners to bargain collectively or individually, as they may prefer and as they may be able to bargain with employers. Whenever an employe is compelled to participate in collective bargaining against his will, his right has been taken from him and he is no longer a free man. He becomes a subject of the union and its agent, no longer free to take employment when he so desires. Whenever an employer is denied the right to bargain individually with his employes, his right has been taken from him also, and he becomes a subject of the union and its agents.

"The demand of the labor unions assuming to speak for all wage earners, although authorized to speak for relatively few, is an attempt to overthrow the first principle for which our forefathers fought the American Revolution—the right to life liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

Where Can I Find Relief From Itching, Terrifying Eczema?

Question on Lips of Afflicted.

There is a harrassing discomfort caused by Eczema that almost becomes a torture. The itching is almost unbearable, and the skin seems on fire with the burning irritation. A cure from local applications of salves and ointments is impossible, because such treatment can only allay the pain temporarily. The disease can only be reached by going deep down to its source, which is in the blood, the disease being caused by an infection which breaks out through the skin. That is why the most satisfactory treatment for all so-called skin diseases is S. S. S., which acts by cleansing the blood. Get a bottle to-day, and you will see results from the right treatment. AVOID THE "FLU" BUILD UP NOW

You can almost surely escape the "Flu" and Grippy Colds this Fall by Taking Chasco-Vin a Most Palatable Body-Building Tonic.

Don't put it off its, much easier to keep the "Flu" away than it is to cure it.

No one would have the awful experience of a year ago repeated hence all should take every precaution, especially those who are weak nervous and run-down. They absolutely need Chasco-Vin.

During the last epidemic thousands were safeguarded by taking Chasco-Vin, a body-building tonic that does build.

It is the toning up of the system that counts in keeping the "Flu" away.

In conjunction with Chasco-Vin we advise using a good anti-septic solution for the throat and nose and also that the bowels be kept open.

Chasco-Vin is sold by Edgar Warfield, jr., King and Pitt Streets.

Store Opens 8.30 a. m. Closes 6 p. m. Except Saturday.

BANK ROBBED BY NEGRO

Cashier of Alberta Institution Forced to Open Safe and Hand Over $15,000

Lawrenceville, Va., Oct. 13.—Surrounded by a posse of angry citizens of Alberta, near here, an unknown negro was being sought Saturday night following a sensational robbery of the Alberta bank during the noon hour Saturday.

At that hour, when the streets of the little town were practically deserted, the negro entered the bank and placing a gun at the head of Cashier T. P. Winborne, Jr., marched him over to the safe and compelled him to take all the bank's available cash, place it in a convenient package and turn it over to him. The negro then forced Winborne to escort him to the bank's door, where he hastily ran down the street.

Winborne immediately gave the alarm, and obtaining a gun, joined a number of business men and gave chase. The hold up man was still in sight of the pursuing posse when the latter opened fire. The negro returned the fire and for several minutes a battle raged in the streets.

During the fighting the negro dropped a portion of the sum taken, said to be $15,000, and at the bank last night it was stated that about $1,500 had been recovered.

The negro was driven into the swamp land on the outskirts of the town, where all trace of him was lost.

Appeals were sent to Norfolk and Petersburg for bloodhounds and an effort was made until late Saturday night to trail the missing hold up man.

The appeal for bloodhounds caused every citizen in the town to take up the chase and Saturday the woodland was being beaten in an effort to locate the negro.

UNION CRISIS SETTLED

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 13.—With the police union and the firemen's union dissolved by order of Admiral A. C. Dillingham, director of public safety of Norfk, both departments are being reorganized on a basis mutually satisfactory to the director and the men, in the police department a situation that threatened to become critical has been safely passed over, and the union has surrendered the charter it secured from the American Federation of Labor.

HAVE COLOR IN CHEEKS

Be Better Looking—Take Olive Tablets

To have a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days, you must keep your body free from poisonous wastes. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets (a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil) act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effect. Take one nightly and note results. They start the bile and overcome constipation. That's why millions of boxes are sold annually. 10c and 25c.

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA

OFFICE OF

CLERK OF THE HOUSE OF DELEGATES

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS to the Constitution of Virginia, agreed to at session of General Assembly 1918, and published in pursuance of section 196 of the Constitution and act approved February 3, 1908.

A RESOLUTION proposing amendment to section 32 of article 2 of the Constitution of Virginia, and providing for publishing said amendment and certifying the same to the next general assembly.

Resolved by the senate, the house of delegates concurring (a majority of the members elected to each house agreeing), That the following amendment to the Constitution of Virginia, be, and the same is hereby, proposed, and referred to the general assembly to be chosen at the next general election of members of the house of delegates, for its concurrence, in conformity with the provisions of section one hundred and ninety-six, of article fifteen of the said Constitution, namely:

Strike out from the Constitution of Virginia section thirty-two, which is in the following words:

Sec. 32. Every person qualified to vote shall be eligible to any office of the State, or of any county, city, town or other subdivision of the State wherein he resides, except as otherwise provided in this Constitution, and except that this provision as to residence shall not apply to any office elective by the people where the law provides otherwise. Men and women eighteen years of age shall be eligible to the office of notary public, and qualified to execute the bonds required of them in that capacity.

And insert in lieu thereof the following:

Sec. 32. Every person qualified to vote shall be eligible to any office of the State, or of any county, city, town or other subdivision of the State, wherein he resides, except as otherwise provided in this Constitution, and except that this provision as to residence shall not apply to any office elective by the people where the law provides otherwise; and except, further, that the requirements of this section as to residence and voting qualifications shall not apply in the appointment of persons to fill positions under a municipal government requiring special technical or professional training and experience. Men and women eighteen years of age shall be eligible to the office of notary public and qualified to execute the bonds required of them in that capacity.

A RESOLUTION proposing amendment to section 138 of the Constitution of Virginia.

Resolved by the senate, the house of delegates concurring, (a majority of the members elected to each house agreeing), That the following amendment to the Constitution of Virginia be, and the same is hereby proposed, and referred to the general assembly to be chosen at the next general election of members of the house of delegates, for its concurrence, in conformity with the provisions of section one hundred and ninety-six, of article fifteen, of the said Constitution, namely:

Strike out from the Constitution of Virginia section one hundred and thirty-eight, which is in the following words:

Section 138. The general assembly may, in its discretion provide for the compulsory education of children between the ages of eight and twelve years, except such as are weak in body or mind, or can read and write, or are attending private schools, or are excused for cause by the district school trustees.

And insert in lieu thereof the following:

Section 138. The general assembly may, in its discretion, provide for the compulsory education of children of school age.

A RESOLUTION proposing amendment to section 117 of article 8 of the Constitution of Virginia, and providing for publishing said amendment and certifying the same to the next general assembly.

Resolved by the senate and the house of delegates (a majority of the members elected to each house agreeing thereto), That the following amendment to the Constitution of Virginia be, and the same is hereby, proposed and referred to the general assembly to be chosen at the next general election of senators and members of the house of delegates, for its concurrence, in conformity to the provisions of section one hundred and ninety-six of article fifteen of said Constitution, namely:

Strike out from the Constitution of Virginia section one hundred and seventeen, which is in the words and figures following, to-wit:

Section 117. General laws for the organization and government of cities and towns shall be enacted by the general assembly, and no special act shall be passed in relation thereto, except in the manner provided in article four of this Constitution, and then only by a recorded vote of two-thirds of the members elected to each house; and except also in the case of cities having more than fifty thousand inhabitants, as hereinafter provided. But each of the cities and towns of the State having at the time of the adoption of this amendment a municipal charter may retain the same, except so far as it shall be repealed or amended by the general assembly; provided, that every such charter is hereby amended so as to conform to all the provisions, restrictions, limitations and powers set forth in this article, or otherwise provided in this Constitution.

Notwithstanding, however, anything in this article contained the general assembly may, by general law or by special act (passed as prescribed in article four of this Constitution), depart in any respect (except as otherwise in this section expressly provided) from the form of organization and government prescribed by this article for cities and towns, and may provide, from time to time, for the various cities and towns of the Commonwealth such form or forms of municipal government as the general assembly may deem best; but no form or forms of government authorized by the second paragraph of this section shall become operative except as to such cities or towns as may thereafter adopt the same by a majority vote of its qualified electors at an election to be held as may be prescribed therefor by law. All the limitations on the powers of the councils of cities and towns imposed by this article shall apply in like manner to the principal legislative authority under any form of government which may be authorized hereunder. The term "council" as used in sections one hundred and twenty-five and one hundred and twenty-seven of this Constitution shall be construed to include the body which, under any form of municipal government, shall be vested with the principal legislative authority of such municipality.

The general assembly, for the purpose of this article, may classify cities according to their population, but the maximum population prescribed for any class shall exceed the minimum population for the same class by at least ten thousand. The general assembly, at the request, made in manner which may be prescribed by law, of any city having a population of over fifty thousand inhabitants, may grant a special form of government for such city.

Any laws or charters enacted pursuant to the provisions of this section shall be subject to the provisions of this Constitution relating expressly to judges and clerks of courts, attorneys for the Commonwealth, commissioners of revenue, city treasurer and city sergeants.

And insert in lieu thereof the following:

Sec. 117. (a) General laws for the organization and government of cities and towns shall be enacted by the general assembly, and no special act shall be passed in relation thereto, except in the manner provided in article four of this Constitution, and then only by a recorded vote of two-thirds of the members elected to each house. But each of the cities and towns of the State having at the time of the adoption of this Constitution a municipal charter may retain the same, except so far as it shall be repealed or amended by the general assembly; provided, that every such charter is hereby amended to conform to all the provisions, restrictions, limitations and powers set forth in this article, or otherwise provided in this Constitution.

(b) The general assembly may, by general law or special act, change in the manner provided in article four of this Constitution, the form of organization and government of cities and towns without regard to area and unaffected by any of the provisions of this article, except those of section one hundred and twenty-four, one hundred and twenty-five, except so far as the provisions of section one hundred and twenty-five require the election of mayor and the power of veto) one hundred and twenty-six, one hundred and twenty-seven and one hundred and twenty-eight, and except also those mentioned in subsection (c) of this section. The cities and towns in any of said sections shall include the body exercising legislative authority for the city or town, and all ordinances, charters and amendments adopted by such body shall have the same force and effect for all purposes as if enacted or adopted in accordance with the provisions of section one hundred and twenty-three of this article. But such organization and government shall apply only to such cities or towns as may thereafter adopt the same by a majority vote of those qualified voters of any such city or town voting in an election to be held for the purpose, as may be provided by law.

(c) The general assembly, at the request of any city or town made in manner provided by law, may grant to it any special form of organization and government authorized by sub-section (b) of this section, and subject to all of the provisions of that sub-section, except that it shall not be necessary for such city or town to thereafter adopt the same.

(d) Any laws or charters enacted pursuant to the provisions of this section shall be subject to the provisions of this Constitution relating expressly to judges and clerks of courts, attorneys for the Commonwealth, commissioners of revenue, city treasurers and city sergeants.

(e) Any form of organization and government authorized by any provision of this section which may have been adopted heretofore by any city or town pursuant to any act of the general assembly enacted before such provision became effective, and which is now in operation, is hereby declared legal and valid ab initio, and shall have the same force and effect as if it had been authorized by this Constitution at the time of its adoption.

A RESOLUTION proposing amendment to section 133 of article 9 of the Constitution of Virginia.

Resolved by the house of delegates, the senate concurring (the majority of the members elected to each house agreeing thereto), That the following amendment to section one hundred and thirty-three, article nine, of the Constitution of Virginia, be and is hereby, proposed and referred to the general assembly at the first regular session held after the next general election of members of the house of delegates for its concurrence in conformity with the provisions of section one hundred and ninety-six, of article fifteen of said Constitution, namely:

Strike out from the Constitution of Virginia section one hundred and thirty-three of article nine, which is in the following words:

Section 133. Each magisterial district shall constitute a separate school district, unless otherwise provided by law. In each school district there shall be three trustees selected, in the manner and for the term of office prescribed by law.

And insert in lieu thereof the following:

Section 133. Each magisterial district shall constitute a separate school district, unless otherwise provided by law. In each school district there shall be not more than three trustees selected, in the manner and for the term of office prescribed by law.

Men and women may serve as school trustees in said districts, and in cities and in towns forming separate school districts.

A RESOLUTION proposing amendment to section 134 of the Constitution of Virginia.

Resolved by the house of delegates, the senate concurring (a majority of the members elected to each house agreeing) That the following amendment to the Constitution of Virginia be, and the same is hereby proposed, and referred to the general assembly to be chosen at the next general election of members of the house of delegates, for its concurrence, in conformity with the provisions of section one hundred and ninety-six, of article fifteen, of the said Constitution, namely:

Strike out from the Constitution of Virginia section one hundred and eighty-four, which is in the following words:

Section 134. No debt shall be contracted by the State except to meet casual deficits in the revenue, to redeem a previous liability of the State, to suppress insurrection, repel invasion, or defend the State in time of war. No scrip, certificate, or other evidence of State indebtedness, shall be issued, except for the transfer or redemption of stock previously issued, or for such debts as are expressly authorized in this Constitution.

And insert in lieu thereof the following:

Section 134. No debt shall be contracted by the State except to construct, or reconstruct, public roads, to meet casual deficits in the revenue, to redeem a previous liability of the State, to suppress insurrection, repel invasion, or defend the State in time of war. No scrip, certificate, or other evidence of State indebtedness, shall be issued except for the transfer or redemption of stock previously issued, or for such debts as are expressly authorized in this Constitution.

A RESOLUTION proposing an amendment to section 136 of article 9 of the Constitution of Virginia, and providing for publishing said amendment and certifying the same to the next session of the general assembly.

Resolved by the house of delegates, the senate concurring (a majority of the members elected to each house agreeing), That the following amendment to the Constitution of Virginia be, and the same is hereby, proposed, and referred to the general assembly to be chosen at the next general election of members of the house of delegates for its concurrence, in conformity with the provisions of section one hundred and ninety-six, of article fifteen, of the said Constitution, namely:

Strike out from the Constitution of Virginia section one hundred and thirty-six, which is in the following words:

Section 136. Each county, city, town, if the same be a separate school district, and school district is authorized to raise additional sums by a tax on property, not to exceed in the aggregate five mills on the dollar in any one year, to be apportioned and expended by the local school authorities of said counties, cities, towns and districts in establishing and maintaining such schools as in their judgment the public welfare may require; provided, that such primary schools as may be established in any school year, shall be maintained at least four months of that school year, before any part of the fund assessed and collected may be devoted to the establishment of schools of higher grade. The boards of supervisors of the several counties, and the councils of the several cities, and towns if the same be separate school districts, shall provide for the levy and collection of such local school taxes.

And insert in lieu thereof the following:

Section 136. Each county, city, town, if the same be a separate school district, and school district is authorized to raise additional sums by a tax on property, not to exceed in the aggregate in any one year a rate of levy to be fixed by law, to be apportioned and expended by the local school authorities of said counties, cities, towns and districts in establishing and maintaining such schools as in their judgment the public welfare may require; provided that such primary schools as may be established in any school year, shall be maintained at least four months of that school year, before any part of the fund assessed and collected may be devoted to the establishment of schools of higher grade. The boards of supervisors of the several counties, and the councils of the several cities, and towns if the same be separate school districts, shall provide for the levy and collection of such local school taxes.

I hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of amendments proposed to the Constitution and agreed to by the General Assembly of Virginia, session 1918, and the same is published in pursuance of section 196 of the Constitution and act of the General Assembly, approved February 3, 1908.

P. E. CHURCH NEAR SPLIT

etroit Convention Torn by Propsed Prayer Book Revision

Detroit, Oct. 13.—Breach of unity ssibly amounting to schism, in the dy of the Protestant Episcopa urch in America, may result, rther attempt to revise the pray book is made in the present Tri nial General Convention, accord g to opinion expressed by many ding churchmen attending. There noted a distinct lining up of delegates in the House of Deputies for nd against revision, with the controversy centering about the attitude f the delegations from the three Virginia dioceses.

Both clerical and lay delegates rom Virginia have made plain heir determination to "fight to the ast ditch" against further revision f the devotional service, and, it is aid, their stand is having strong influence on other Southern delegations.

"The general convention has gone as far as it can on revision of the Book of Prayer," said one Virginian yesterday. "If an attempt is made to force the issue on the reservation of the sacrament and it is successfully pushed the Virginia delegation will meet the situation. The Virginia church was out of the general convention four years (the Civil War) and successfully stood as an autonomous church body. If necessary, we can stand alone again.

The Virginia delegates opposing the changes state that the proposed revisions tend toward what they designate "high church" practices. Prominent among the Virginia representation in the convention are Roswell Page, of Beaver, Dam., brother of Thomas Nelson Page, former Ambassador to Italy and who represents the church in Europe; Dr. C. V. Bryan, of Petersburg; John Stewart Bryan, of Richmond; the Rev. William B. Smith, of Winchester, and Dr. W. Russell Bowie, of Richmond.

Fighting side by side with the Virginians against further departure from the old form of service, although at present advocating merely postponement of revision of the prayer book until 1922, is a group headed by the Rev. Dr. John Randolph McKim, of Washington, D. C, and the Rev. Dr. Floyd W. Tomkins, of Philadelphia.

KEPT HER AWAKE

The Terrible Pains in Back and Sides Cardui Gave Relief

Marksville, La.—Mrs. Alice Johnson of this place writes: "For one year I suffered with an awful misery in my back and sides. My left side was hurting me all the time. The misery was something awful.

I could not do anything, not even sleep at night. It kept me awake most of the night. I took different medicines, but nothing did me any good or relieved me until I took Cardui.

I was not able to do any of my work for one year and I got worse all the time, was confined to my bed off and on. I got so bad with my back that when I stooped down I was not able to straighten up again. I decided I would try Cardui. By time I had taken the entire bottle I was feeling pretty good and could straight en up and my pains were nearly all gone.

I shal lalways praise Cardui. I continued taking it until I was strong and well." If you suffer from pains due to female complaints, Cardui may women who once suffered in this way now praise Cardui for their present be just what you need. Thousands of good health. Give it a trial.

DRY ENFORCEMENT PASSED

House Adopts Conference Report And Sends Measure to President

Washington, Oct. 13.—Enactment of the Prohibition Enforcement bill was completed last week by Congress with the House adopting the conference report already agreed to by the Senate and sending the measure to the President for approval. Preceding the House approval of the report by a vote of 321 to 70, vain effort was made to send it back to conference, with instructions to eliminate a section permitting State authorities to issue warrants.

THEATRES

INGOMAR THEATRE

"The Girl Alaska," the great picture of the north country, which will be the attraction at the Ingomar Theatre tonight, and every foot of which was made on Alaskan soil, tells how the girl, in order to reach Alaska, stows away on a steamship, in boy's clothes, and then, when discovered, is obliged to do every sort of menial work in order to pay for her passage.

But while on the boat she meets the young man with whom she pals all through Alaska, in all sorts of adventures, and then marries when they have discovered a valuable gold mine.

Chapter 9 of "The Great Gamble" also will be shown.

GRAND THEATRE

"The Song of Songs," the Artcraft picture starring Elsie Ferguson, and now being exhibted at the Grand Theatre, presents an unusual story. Just as you are heaving a sigh of relief at the triumph of Lily Kardos—the role played by Miss Ferguson—in baffling the human wolves who best the path of the girl who begins as a salesgirl and succeeds in winning as a husband an ex-senator who is a mutli-millionaire, "the woman scorned" takes a hand and cunningly contrives to place the young girl in a comprising position and the jealous and elderly husband casts her off. Then follows a series of sensational incidents in which the beautiful Miss Ferguson displays her talents as an emotional actress. Also 11th episode "in Perils of Thunder Mountain."

"A Temperamental Wife," starring Constance Talmadge which will be shown at the Richmond Theatre tonight, is the first of a series of twelve productions to be made by Miss Talmadge and which will be distributed by the First National Exhibitors' Circuit.

The story was written by John Emerson and Anita Loos, well known for their directing and creative ability for the screen, and is their first effort since their marriage recently.
